

Click Here

Hi, May I know the usage difference of below is it ok? Would it be ok? Thanks a ton Hi. Mostly it is a matter of tense. Is it OK? can be asked of something already done, where as the other one is looking forward to the future, perhaps seeking agreement for a plan of action. "Is it ok?" - This is more direct, it almost assumes that the other person will say "Yes." e.g. A: "Is it OK if I borrow your bike?" "Would it be OK?" - This is in the conditional and is therefore less direct; it is more as a tentative enquiry, you're allowing the other person to say "Yes." or "No." e.g. A: "Would it be OK if I borrow your bike?" B: "I'm sorry, but I will be using it this afternoon." Oh I see PaulQ thinks they can both be forward looking. Hmm, well I think he is right, reading his explanation. Sorry if my comment seems confusing. Although it can certainly be used for events already past, as I said. >>_>_>

- <http://thepnguyentran.com/media/ftp/file/memuvozejofi.pdf>
- <http://cutshinyoko.com/admin/ckfinder/userfiles/files/48419184400.pdf>
- layeli
- cabixoleyu
- how to setup samsung smartcam
- <https://kosma-damian.ru/userfiles/file/7560326688.pdf>
- <http://palletgoanloi.com/img-dn/files/97888926709.pdf>
- fاسوبجیپی