Play with a cool neon-looking type of electric colorful snake in a fun arena where to survive you must get as close to your opponents to boost your speed. While you are close enough not to touch each other you will see that you will charge with a boost of energy that will speed you up and move ahead of him. Overpassing your rivals gives you the possibility of eliminating them by crashing head-on into them, killing them. Each neon snake eats energy to grow, to be able to grow your powerline run and eat the energy balls, or just battle and smash the other snakes and collect the energies that are released after they die. Each dead snake will release its collected energy and you can consume it and grow faster. The more energy crystals you have the higher the spot you can get on the scoreboard. Also, make sure you constantly look at the minimap from your left side where you can see the first player. If you think you are skilled enough you can try to kill him and become the king of the arena that will provide you with a shining crown.
