Hello Lانس, press F7 for the navigation mode of caret, then the behavior must return to normal... Philipp! You're an absolute hero! Thank you so much! You are an absolute hero! Thank you very much! xxx you are very welcome: these cat-induced mistakes from time to timeSo they really make me smile :) you are very welcome - these bugs induced by cat every time and then they really make me smile :) You do not need an extension to deactivate the F7 key. Firefox has an integrated pref to deactivate the F7 key. Set accessibility.browsewithcaret shortcut.enabled pref to false on the about:config page. You don't need an extension to turn off the F7 key. Firefox has an integrated pref to deactivate the F7 key. Establish the nyominianic.browsewithcaret shortcut.enabled pref to false on the page of nyteen.config segn/b. Where/How do I get to that stage, please? Whers/How do I get to that stage, please? Write about:config in the location bar (direction) and press the "Enter" key to open the page:config, as you open a website by typing the URL in the location bar. If you see a warning message, then you can confirm that you want to access the page around:config. use the search bar at the top of the page:config to locate preferences more easily that have been modified and do not have the default value as daring preferences (user configuration) that are set of users (bold) can be restored to the predetermined location value through the right-click through the right-click context menu * references can be changed through the right-click context menu: Modify (String or Integer) or Toggle (Boolean) or double-clicking the line with the pref *preferences can be created through the right-click context menu: New - slope, Integer, Seriously - Thank you! Amazing - thanks :) Learn to "learn" my laptop! Thank you for that Philipp answer... I know this is a few months late, but I guess mine stopped working because my cat barks on my keyboard for no reason. The care browsing mode that mentions that causes this, does any place you click on a website bring a text cursor as if you were editing a field? Modified January 1, 2014 at 11:42:55 PM PST by paintsnthere Yes, when navigation is enabled carefully, then you get a cursor on the website if you click to set the approach to that page. When the navigation mode is active, the cursor keys behave differently. * * ManyFor his great solution. I've been dealing with this topic for a while and I was going crazy. Online Informatic Aid provided solutions (UGH) that were extensive and complicated that had no faith in the implementation of any of them. they. The F7 solution was right ahead !! Hello Cuefox, thanks for your feedback, I hope you can now enjoy your browsing with Firefox again when you are used to it! Hi Philipp, yes, I enjoy using Firefox and the help was great. Being tormented by this annoying problem was frustrating. But, a simple F7 key did the trick. I'm not aware of how the "Caret Browsing" came about. Whatever happened. Instead of searching online, I must have searched Firefox first. I thought it was a computer problem and not the browser until I noticed that the problem didn't happen when I tried it on IEB. Also, I'd like to mention that I couldn't just open the TV show guide on my internet optimal website, but I finally realized that it might be a plugin that I recently installed called, Ghostery, which I thought it was helpful not to send my information to other websites. I don't think you take into account how it works and / or maybe you didn't enable the correct settings. So, he discussed it.
