6801 Meadowbrook Drive, Fort Worth, TX 76112 Newman International Academy of Fort Worth is a renowned educational institution situated at 6801 Meadowbrook Drive in Fort Worth, Texas. The school prides itself on offering an exceptional academic program within a supportive and nurturing environment. With a focus on preparing students for success in today's globalized world, the academy emphasizes critical thinking, creativity, and collaboration. Students receive personalized attention from experienced educators and have access to various extracurricular activities to enhance their educational experience. By fostering a culture of academic excellence and character development, Newman International Academy is committed to helping students reach their full potential and achieve their goals. Some parents share positive experiences with the school, mentioning that it's like a small family where everyone knows each other, and they appreciate the personalized attention and supportive environment. Others have had mixed or negative experiences, citing issues with communication, curriculum, teacher attitudes, and administrative handling of concerns. Staff at Newman International Academy in Fort Worth, TX tend to favor students who are children of teachers and administrators. The assistant principal's son is known for bullying other students, but this behavior goes unchecked since his mom holds a high position. Both the principal and assistant principal have been dishonest, speaking rudely to students and encouraging them to lie about what happened. The school's food is subpar, communication is poor, and organization is lacking. Academic performance is also disappointing, with only 17% of students proficient in math and 42% in reading. The secretary, who genuinely cares about the students, feels trapped between her duties and the need to remain silent about what she witnesses. I am deeply disappointed in this school's overall performance.
